

RIVIERE RUGS 'Ocean' is the result of a collaboration between established British rug company Riviere and the award-winning interior designer/architect duo Anna Agapova and Oleg Klodt of O&A London. The design is part of the handcrafted 'Caledonia' rugs collection, inspired by the majestic landscape of the Scottish Highlands. It reflects a deep and intimate sense of beauty that the two designers experienced on their first visit to the region. 'Ocean' is reminiscent of the ebb and flow of waves and the trails left by water receding on wet sands. The rug is handcrafted in Nepal's Kathmandu Valley by weavers whose traditional skills have been passed down through generations. Materials, such as sustainable and renewable Tibetan wool and Tencel silk, were selected with their ecological impact in mind. The water and by-products used to produce these fibres are recycled up to 99 per cent, drastically reducing waste and environmental impact. Riviere intends to donate 10 per cent of the sales of 'Ocean' to organisations dedicated to preserving marine life. For details, ring 020 3601 4600, or visit riviererugs.com

Right: 'Ocean' has a pattern reminiscent of the trails left by receding waves on wet sand. It is unpredictable, like water, taking multiple shapes and forms before returning to the bosom of the sea
